

Test HiDiamond Phono 0

28.08.2012

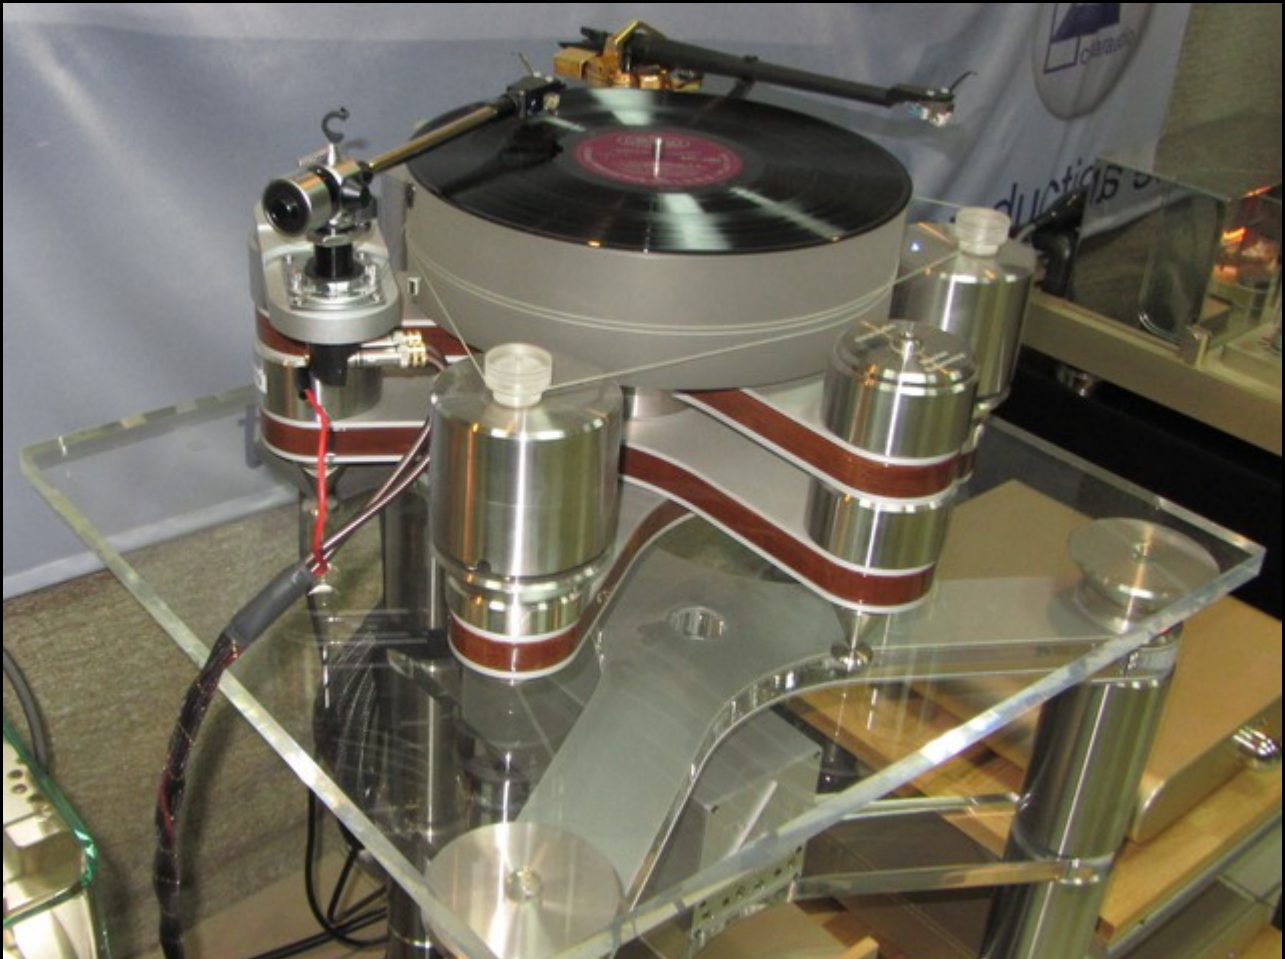

HiDiamond introduces Phono 0. Phono cable that before appearing in Italy was tested in Ukraine. A full test, without any judicial Commission, with several challengers and discussions to ensure that if this new cable was competitive like other company's products. HiDiamond Interconnect cables, HDMI, power and other cables HiDIamond already found their lovers and are encouraged by their owners, deservedly but also the Phono cable can take a worthy place among the competitors? The absence of judges was compensated by different approaches for all cables. The system is known to be of high level:

After this system was seen by Italians, have written the following sentence "Fantastic Hi Fi System

The opponents were many famous manufacturers of audio cable (for ethical considerations, their names will remain confidential).

Material for the review was:

The cable was ready in a few days and the results were discussed and formulated by a single review-verdict:

"Cable that it's worth it. No noise, perfect. The high frequencies are pretty transparent, medium very neutral. The bass is exactly what we expected using vinyl: It is natural and it is a great pleasure to hear. It is difficult to describe a cable in which everything is in its place, but it's easy to assign to him the epithet. This cable is also lively and joyful.

Disadvantages of cable that was sent in the standard version is only 1 m in length, which is not always convenient to our system and the inability to buy this cable in SME version.
